PCW HEALTHY-POLIS: HARNESSING OPPORTUNITIES FOR IMPROVING URBAN HEALTH AND WELLBEING THROUGH ENVIRONMENTAL SUSTAINABILITY

This Workshop has the following objects: i) to identify and discuss innovation and standardisation of epidemiological, exposure and health impact assessment methods based on big data analyses, smart sensors, citizen science, integrated modelling, and system based participatory approaches; ii) to provide a forum for international, multi-disciplinary research collaboration on urban environmental health, health equity and sustainability, leading to one or more multi-centre funding applications; iii) to evaluate and promote environmental interventions, focusing on urban life-course approaches in response to environmental change, bridging the gap between research and practice; iv) promote integration of public health research and practice into urban research and data collection agendas, to address UN Sustainable Development Goal 11: Make cities inclusive, safe, resilient and sustainable.

These objectives address ISUH goals and ICUH themes on health equity and healthy sustainable urbanization.

The following two main themes will be discussed in this workshop:

- 1. Research & innovation: Explore links and interactions between urban health, ecological public health, climate change, air quality and sustainable development, with specific examples for integrated life-course solutions.
- 2. Achieving impact: Going beyond established public and policy engagement and dissemination to the more comprehensive exploration of challenges and opportunities with agents from the public and private sectors.

This workshop targets public health practitioners, urban planners and developers, environmental scientists, air quality managers, exposure scientists, epidemiologist, toxicologists, city directors.

MON 25/09 14:00 - 18:30 PRE-CONFERENCE WORKSHOP

PCW SHAPING POLICIES TO PROMOTE URBAN HEALTH EQUITY: A SOCIO-TECHNICAL APPROACH. EVIDENCE FROM THE EURO-HEALTHY CASE STUDIES

The main purpose of this workshop is to explore how the framework and methods developed under the EURO-HEALTHY project can effectively assist local policy-makers in the analysis, evaluation and selection of policies aiming to promote health equity in different urban settings. Furthermore, it is expected that the workshop will lead the participants to exchange knowledge on: i) Health equity issues in different cities and the impact of local policies on intra-urban health inequalities; ii) Good practices on urban policies improving population health and decreasing inequalities; iii) Stakeholder involvement; iv) Evidence on how greater collaboration among researchers, stakeholders, policy-makers and civil society representatives complements the efforts to integrate research into policies and improve health equity.

The workshop will be structured in two parts. The first part will include a number of presentation sessions regarding the development of the EURO-HEALTHY's case studies of Lisbon and Turin and the methodology implemented to support the evaluation and selection of policies in each city. The second part will be focused on discussing the added-value, the opportunities and challenges of the transferability of the EURO-HEALTHY's framework, tools and approaches to other urban settings and its complementarity with other socio-ecological frameworks.

This workshop will provide a unique platform for policy makers, city councillors, health geographers, urban planners and health scientists to discuss determinants of health equity, public policies, evidence-based policy-making, evaluation methods, stakeholders involvement, healthy urban planning.

PCW HUMAN POPULATION PATTERNS IN SUB-SAHARAN AFRICAN CITIES: DATA AND TOOLS FOR URBAN HEALTH ASSESSMENTS

The population of Africa is predicted to double over the next 40 years, driving exceptionally high urban expansion rates. These expected urban expansion rates will induce major changes in human population distribution, with important consequences on the environment, health and socio-economic development. The MAUPP project (Modelling and forecasting African Urban Population Patterns for vulnerability and health assessments) is a 4-year research project focusing on the development of data and methods for monitoring urban African settings and modelling population distribution. Satellite remote sensing offers an effective solution for mapping settlements, monitoring urbanization at different spatial and temporal scales and predict intra-urban variations in population density.

The quantity and quality of human population datasets available for sub-Saharan African cities remains very poor, and our objective is first to demonstrate the potentialities of newly developed data and methods in the field of urban population mapping and modelling for urban health decision making. Our broader objective is to meet potential users of our datasets in order to better design them to user needs and understand user learning requirements to inform our capacity building activities.

- Brief presentation of the MAUPP project (Catherine Linard)
- Presentation of the available datasets (Michal Shimoni & Eléonore Wolff)
- Best practices for using the datasets and example applications (Jessica Steele & Catherine Linard)
- Discussion with participants on (i) the utility of datasets in their own field of expertise, (ii) data limitations and (iii) specific requirements for urban health applications

LEARNING BY DOING: INCLUSIVE, HEALTHY PLACEMAKING

The objective of this workshop is to gather expert insight on how the inclusive healthy placemaking definition and framework could be improved and made more useful to practitioners and researchers; to explore the overlapping and complementary aspects between design/urban planning and public health research and practices, particularly related to equity; and to inspire participants to apply these early learnings to their own practices and research.

We will introduce the working definition of inclusive healthy placemaking as well as the research and practice evaluation framework, two products that resulted from multimethod research which included literature review of design, planning, placemaking, equity, and social inclusion, as well as qualitative interviews with placemakers from around the world.

Participants will visit Praça da República and Garden of Sereia to test our assumptions. We will receive an overview about the space from two local practitioners. We will then conduct an exercise based emerging indicators in our framework for inclusion, health, and placemaking. We will then return to the university, where we will have a facilitated conversation and another exercise that applies our collective knowledge on how we can best evaluate community supports and other external factors that underpin a healthy and inclusive place.

By the end of the workshop, participants will have had the opportunity to view a public space in a wholly new way. They will walk away with a common understanding of the elements and indicators of inclusive healthy placemaking and the pathways to changing practice.

This workshop is suited for public health, design and planning researchers, and practitioners interested in the role the public realm plays in supporting health outcomes, particularly with a focus on social justice and equity.

PCW HOW TO IMPLEMENT AND SCALE UP COMMUNITY BEST SOLUTIONS FOR IMPROVING URBAN HEALTH

The objectives of the pre-conference workshop are to share different best solutions on community based urban health interventions and create a global learning and information sharing network on community best practice to be affiliated with the ISUH. A 'horizontal learning approach' will be proposed to showcase the benefits of evidence based practices so other countries may benefit by replicating the best practices, as adapted to their local conditions. The network will promote learning and action among members in their own cities and countries and identify opportunities to intervene in global, regional and national urban health policy. Responsibilities and resource mobilization for the thematic network will be defined.

Among the topics to be discussed by panellists in active dialogue with all workshop attendees include: Indicators and targets for measuring community best practices within the SDGs goals; how to engage and scale up the community best solutions; how to share the best solution knowledge among the partners and stakeholders; mobilizing local resources for community best solutions. Participation by NGOs, UN Agencies. academicians, students, managers, policy makers and funding organizations with track record of implementing successful community based practice are encouraged.

The workshop will feature a combination of panel discussion, small group work and plenary session to bring together the elements of an action plan.

HOW TO WRITE A GREAT RESEARCH PAPER, AND GET PUBLISHED IN A TOP JOURNAL

Knowing the best way of structuring your paper when writing it, and the most appropriate journal to send it to, really helps in getting your paper accepted. Also understanding how editors and publishers think and what they expect, and knowing how the peer review process works, is invaluable insight into the publishing process.

After attending this workshop, one in the Elsevier Publishing Connect Workshop series, participants will have a clear idea of the steps needed to be taken before starting to write a paper. They will also be able to plan writing manuscripts using the logical step sequence – not the sequence in which the paper will be read. Authors are also made aware of what aspects of their papers Editors and Publishers look at critically, and to ensure that in taking care of these areas, their papers are much more likely to be accepted. Dealing with referees' comments and the art of polite rebuttal are also described such that these can be used to improve the submitted paper suitably. Sensitive areas such as publishing ethics, plagiarism, duplicate publishing, etc are also clearly explained such that participants have a clear understanding of what is allowed, and what is not permitted.

These insights into the publishing process will enable the participants to be more confident as an author in the world of science publishing, and will help them get their papers published more easily.

Keywords: Publishing, Paper authorship, ethics, journal.

The target audience of this workshop are early career researchers.

TRAINING IN URBAN HEALTH EQUITY TO SHAPE GLOBAL FUTURE CITIES

The ISUH is committed to supporting and shaping urban health education around the world. This pre-conference workshop will build on previous global dialogues and ICUH sessions. The results of a global survey conducted by the International Society for Urban Health (ISUH) Working Group on Education and Training to gather models for urban health education will be presented.

This workshop will discuss the training needs for promoting urban health equity. We will hear from participants and invited guests on how to organize new training in urban health equity in university settings, define core competencies, and engage city decision-makers and NGOs to move from education to practice.

At the end of the session, participants will:

- (a) have an understanding of current university-level urban health training programmes;
- (b) discuss and co-design the core competencies for a global urban health training programme; and
- (c) shape the work plan for the ISUH Working Group on Education and Training for 2018.

The workshop is open to academics, NGO leaders, government officials and others from disciplines including public health, urban planning, medicine, geography, design and others.

PL1 INTEGRATING WORK ON THE SDGS AND THE NEW URBAN AGENDA TO IMPROVE HEALTH EQUITY IN CITIES

Room: Main Auditorium

The United Nations Sustainable Development Goals and New Urban Agenda provide goals and frameworks for countries and regions to achieve higher levels of economic and social development. Cities and the pace of urbanization worldwide make the need for integrated planning and implementation of interventions to achieve these goals critical. The commitment that "no one be left behind" reinforces the importance of health equity as a cross-cutting theme in urban settings.

Growing old in urban slums: challenges to the health of older people living in informal settlements

Room: Main Auditorium

Chair: Megumi Rosenberg, Technical Officer, WHO Centre for Health

Development

This panel will address the dynamics of ageing and health in urban informal settlements. Addressing this aspect of the urban reality is critical for the pursuit of key interlocking global development agendas: the Sustainable Development Goals, the New Urban Agenda and the Global Strategy and Action Plan on Ageing and Health. Expert panellists from Africa, South Asia and Latin America, where the world's largest slum areas are found, will share evidence and insights on key challenges and opportunities for optimizing the health of those who are old, or growing old, in urban slums.

Neal Brandes, United States Agency for International Development

Implementation research can serve to advance how urban health issues are addressed, particularly considering the multi-sectoral nature of many of the challenges. The panel participants represent a Regional Ministerial Governing Body, donor, civil society, and research institutions. Panelists will present on evidence needs, gaps and opportunities born out of a multi-stakeholder consultation focused on nutrition, and water, sanitation and hygiene (WASH) interventions to meet the needs of the poorest children residing in urban areas of East Africa. Panelists will discuss determinants of urban health challenges, review the relevant evidence, share stakeholder perspectives and propose a set of implementation science priorities to advance the health of children in urban areas.

27/09 09:10 - 10:10 PARALLEL SESSION

PS2.1 PRE-FORMED PANEL

Water, Sanitation, Hygiene (WASH) and health in informal settlements

Room: Main Auditorium

Chair: Joanna Esteves Mills, Environmental Health Group, London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine

This session will draw on recent research to demonstrate the higher WASH-related health risk associated with high-density urban areas, as well as the unique risks and exposure pathways characteristic of such environments. It will also explore a number of potential avenues for addressing these challenges, including the issue of demand-creation for WASH services among informal settlements, understanding the determinants of behaviour in complex urban environments, and the opportunities and barriers associated with the model of decentralised services.

SPEAKERS

Robert Dreibelbis, LSHTM – Challenges and opportunities for WASH behaviour change in urban and informal settlements

David Berendes, Georgia Institute of Technology – Exploring health impacts of decentralised sanitation systems

Jane Mumma, Great Lakes University of Kisumu, Kenya – Unique risks and pathways in periurban environments

Roma Chilengi, Centre for Infectious Disease Research, Zambia – Increasing sanitation demand as one key element for successful interventions

PS2.3 PRE-FORMED PANEL

What makes places more conducive to achieving a culture of health?

Room: Aeminium C1A2

Chair: Sharon Roerty, Senior Program Officer RWJF

In this panel, Gehl Institute will first introduce an evaluation framework for inclusive, healthy placemaking to the audience and describe some of the key elements gathered from literature and global scan of practice. We will then hear from practitioners working on the ground in cities around the world about their successes and challenges in creating public spaces for improved health and equity, either in close collaboration with municipalities or through a public campaign. Through the discussion, we will test the strength of the emerging framework and surface key actions practitioners, researchers, decision-makers, and other stakeholders could take to contribute to the cross-sectoral effort that inclusive, healthy placemaking requires.

PS3.3 PRE-FORMED PANEL The Role of Technology in Accelerating the Urban Health Agenda in LMICs

Room: Aeminium C1A2

Chair: Roberta Bosurgi, Head of Urban Health Initiative, Novartis

Foundation, Switzerland

Geoffrey So, Head of Partnerships, Novartis Foundation

The session will examine the gaps that need to be addressed in low- and middle-income countries (LMICs), with respects to surveillance and data-driven decision making for urban planning and public health; digital innovations that are leapfrogging urban wellbeing; financial and sustainability challenges; and highlight case examples of how technology is transforming urban health, including non-communicable diseases that disproportionately affect LMICs. The existing and emerging urban health challenges are complex and cannot be addressed by one academic discipline or the governmental sector alone. There is an urgent need for multidisciplinary and multisector approaches to make cities inclusive, safe, resilient and sustainable.

Chair: Gerald Bloom, Co-convenor of the Health and Nutrition

Cluster, Institute of Development Studies, UK

This pre-formed panel will discuss the importance of place in designing, adapting and delivering community-based interventions to prevent or manage disease and promote healthy outcomes. Evidence based public health interventions when translated to diverse urban spaces and/or across international boundaries require modifications in order to make them feasible, linguistically appropriate, effective and relevant to the environmental conditions of the community, even when its aim is fidelity to focus, target population, and content. Presenters will identify and discuss the challenges experienced in delivering evidence based and manualized interventions in diverse urban spaces. The panel is designed to be interactive, encouraging active discussion and exchanges on intervention design, strategies and outcomes from audience participants.

PL3 URBAN GOVERNANCE AND EQUITY-ORIENTED POLICIES

Room: Main Auditorium

Effective local government is essential to creating and implementing more inclusive and effective policies for sustainable urban development and health equity. One of the critical requirements of effective government is the ability to engage the multiple stakeholders within and across sectors of government, organizations of civil society and communities themselves to align their work towards a mode of "governance" to promote health equity across urban populations. The panel will discuss models that work and challenges to successful inclusive governance.

The state of the art of urban governance to promote health equity: a follow-up to the 2016 WHO Global Report on Urban Health

Room: Main Auditorium

Chair: Jo Ivey Boufford, President, New York Academy of Medicine

This panel will address the conference theme of "Urban governance and equity-oriented policies". With its strong focus on equity, it speaks to the core of both the New Urban Agenda and the Sustainable Development Goals. This is a follow-up to the launch of the 2nd WHO Global Report on Urban Health at last year's ICUH. The expert panellists, who contributed to the Global Report, will discuss various aspects of urban governance, from effective governance strategies to monitoring and benchmarking, with a view toward advancing research and practice concerning urban governance strategies that have demonstrable impact on health equity.

Urban health in Latin America and the Caribbean: promoting research and evidence-based policy through the LAC-Urban Health network

Room: Mondego C2A

Chair: Ana Diez Roux, Drexel University, USA

LAC is unique in having attained a high level of urbanization (~80%) far more quickly and with less resources than other highly-developed regions. LAC thus faces unique urban health challenges, and has responded with transformative innovation. The LAC-Urban Health research network aims to build new linkages among LAC researchers and with global knowledge and policy networks; to better understand how urban policies affect urban health; to promote increased research funding; and to derive lessons of value to other regions facing rapid urbanization. This panel features researchers from LAC-Urban Health to report on new initiatives and findings from the region.

Realising the Potential of Workplaces to shape Healthy Cities: The Role of Employers in Urban Health

Room: Aeminium C1A2

Chair: K Srinath Reddy, President, Public Health Foundation of India

With the global labour force set to increase to 3.5 billion by 2030, there is an unprecedented opportunity to harness the transformative power of workplaces as an effective setting to prevent and manage NCDs. The session will highlight relevant approaches to catalyse efforts by employers, local authorities, and national governments worldwide to promote and protect the health of their workforces, presenting evidence, potential solutions, and concrete examples of good practice. Panellists will explore the significance of workplace wellness within the post-2015 development agenda, define the investment case for implementing workplace wellness initiatives, and demonstrate the essential nature of a cross-sectoral approach.

Scaling for impact: A critical look at how low-cost innovations are creating healthier and resilient cities

Room: Main Auditorium

Chair: Gerald Bloom, Co-Convener Health and Nutrition Cluster,

Institute of Development Studies, UK

The United Nation projects the increase of urban populations from 3.3 to 4.9 billion worldwide by 2030. Much of that growth is slated to occur in cities of the developing world. This has huge implications on how established and new cities in these countries manage and plan for the health of their populations. New models of urban healthcare increasingly involve low-cost, high-quality socially linked interventions enabling diverse populations to better access and utilise health services. This panel discussion will critically examine the evolution and approaches of urban health innovation eco-systems across 3 focus areas. Panellists will draw on their different experiences with implementing and/or analysing interventions aimed at enabling pro-poor innovations to diffuse at scale in increasingly diverse and complicated health networks.

The long journey to urban health: linking migrants, cities, and sustainable development

Room: Mondego C2A

Chair: Inez Roosen, UNU-MERIT

Increasingly, migration patterns and policies shape urban health not only among migrants, but in their origins and destinations. Urban planning and development policies that consider migrants can lead to broad individual and societal benefits. Policies that exclude or ignore them may severely impact individual physical and mental health and the economic functioning, social integration, social trust and resilience of host and sending communities. Such policies may also widen equity gaps, further affecting health and wellbeing. In this panel, researchers from UNU-IIGH and IOM will explore connections among cities, health, and migration using case studies, policy analysis, and systems thinking frameworks.

PS5.3 PRE-FORMED PANEL Healthy Aerotropoleis

Room: Aeminium C1A2

Chair: Jean Simos, Institute of Global Health, Université de Genève, and Association Genevoise pour le Développement Communautaire

Airports are seen as forms of urban agglomerations: aerotropoleis. The development of a second international airport in Sydney (Australia) creates an opportunity to consider health making dimensions of such settings. Health scholars and practitioners aim to set a global benchmark for 'Healthy Aerotropoleis'.

In this panel we will present the outcomes of a Healthy Airport Health Impact Assessment, Healthy Airport Region modeling and validation, and an assessment of an airport-dwelling community. Our conceptual progress toward this new 'Healthy Setting' merits discussion and feedback with global urban health colleagues.

How do we define and achieve an inclusive healthy placemaking project?

Room: Main Auditorium

Chair: Sharon Roerty, Senior Program Officer, RWJF

Practitioners, policy makers and research all work towards understanding the dynamics needed and the roles that community and other stakeholders should play when identifying, designing, or upgrading public spaces that support healthy and inclusive communities. The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation seeks to better understand how to achieve inclusive, healthy placemaking (a people-centered approach to the planning, design, and management of public spaces) by learning from global approaches that can then be applied to the United States. The purpose of this panel is to present examples of approaches to healthy placemaking from different regions of the world and share learnings among the panelists and with the audience about the opportunities and challenges of creating public spaces that promote people's health, happiness, well-being, and community cohesiveness. Moderated by Susan Roerty of the RWJF, four panelists who are active in the general area of inclusive, healthy placemaking will discuss their projects and/or research.

Uniting for Healthy Cities: Integrated Approaches to Healthcare Delivery for HIV and NCDs

Room: Mondego C2A

Chair: K Srinath Reddy, President, Public Health Foundation of India

HIV and cancer represent two global disease burdens – one infectious, one non-communicable. Both diseases are chronic in nature and pose challenges to sustained health care, further augmented by high urban population densities. Urban environments are associated with increased exposure to risk factors for cancer, while a tailored response in cities is also essential to end AIDS as a public health threat by 2030. The New Urban Agenda and the Sustainable Development Goals mandate collaborative action across health specialties and across the whole of society as the central means through which health may be protected and promoted in urban settings.

Partnerships (PPPs) to Reduce Harmful Alcohol Use

Room: Aeminium C1A2

Chair: Peter Anderson, Professor of Substance Abuse, Policy and Practice, Newcastle University; Professor, Alcohol and Health, Faculty of Health, Medicine and Life Sciences, Maastricht University, The Netherlands

In December 2015, AB InBev announced the Global Smart Drinking Goals (GSDG), its commitment to meaningfully contribute to the reduction of harmful alcohol use over the next decide. One of the stated goals is to reduce harmful alcohol use by at least 10% in nine cities. This panel will bring together leadership from the AB InBev Foundation, the GSDG Technical Advisory Group, and a public-private partnership in one of the nine cities [Brasilia, Brazil or Leuven, Belgium] to describe their journey towards achieving this ambitious set of goals. Emerging ideas in the architecture, as well as models for strong governance, program planning and implementation, and measurement & evaluation will be explored.

HEALTHY URBAN PLANNING, MEASUREMENT AND METRICS, DATA, RESEARCH & EDUCATION

Room: Main Auditorium

There is increasing understanding of the importance of evidence based decision making in urban planning and management. For those seeking to advance a health agenda, evidence on the health impact of decisions in all sectors are significant. Critical challenges in creating the needed evidence include the systems to collect data, data quality and availability, and how it can best be used by public managers, policy makers and communities themselves to set realistic metrics for measuring progress towards a healthier and more equitable urban environment. Partnerships between academia and government can offer advantages in achieving a holistic understanding of health determinants and the skills needed to address them.

Cities as a driving force for integrating health in the New Urban Agenda: Barcelona and Beyond

Room: Main Auditorium

Chair: Howard Frumkin, University of Washington, USA

Although the New Urban Agenda was signed by nations, cities will drive implementation. This creates a critical opportunity to integrate health into urban planning to achieve its goals. Greater collaboration between public health and urban transport and design can help build common language, tools and approaches to protect and promote population health across sectors.

Barcelona is one of Europe's most densely populated cities and embodies many urban challenges. Using Barcelona as a case study, and drawing on experts from research and policy, this session examines how cities are and can become leaders in bringing health to the forefront of NUA.

PL5 Health Care in Cities: Access, Services and Quality

Room: Main Auditorium

Access to personal health care services is an important determinant of health. This session will explore models for achieving high quality health care provision and effective health care access in cities. It will also explore the role that health care delivery organizations can play in advancing the health of the communities they serve and assuring health equity.

Understanding the impact of economic crises on the population's mental health in urban areas

Room: Main Auditorium

Chair: José Miguel Caldas de Almeida, CEDOC, NOVA University of Lisbon, Portugal

The panel includes qualitative and quantitative analyses of the perceived impact of the economic crisis in the Lisbon region, assessed by the general population and primary care users and professionals, followed by analysis of the mental health provision in urban areas during economic crises, using a novel mapping methodology. Patterns of mental health services provision in Barcelona, Bilbao, Helsinki, and Sydney will be analysed, to understand the strengths and the weaknesses of mental health systems. Finally, recommendations to improve quality and a more equitable provision of mental health care in urban areas in times of economic crises will be provided.

Room: Mondego C2A

Chair: Matthias Braubach, Technical Officer, WHO European

Centre for Environment and Health

Sotiris Vardoulakis, Director of Research, Institute of Occupational

Medicine, United Kingdom

The session aims to discuss key urban environmental health challenges, the implications of the SDGs and other international commitments for local action, and how local work can be best supported through the provision of data, guidance and tools. Specific focus will be put on the relevance of monitoring urban environments, and how monitoring and impact assessment methods can help integrated and healthy urban planning.

Contributions will be provided by two international organizations involved with the health impacts and surveillance of urban environments (WHO / EEA), and by two researchers presenting their work on the health impacts of urban structures.

India's Growth: Cities on the Horizon

Room: Conventual C1D

USAID

With the growth of secondary and tertiary cities in India, the urban landscape is very dynamic. Private sector partners and donor organizations, as well as the government of India through its formation of the National Urban Health Mission, are responding to this dynamism with varied approaches. Stakeholders are trying to tap into the energy of the markets and growth while addressing continued pressing urban issues, such as slum settlements and environmental constraints. This panel will present some of the varied approaches being tried in India with a discussion of results to date and anticipated impact.

Dhaka Statement on Urban Health and Way Forward to Achieving the SDGs

Room: Main Auditorium

Chair: ASM Mahbubul Alam, Chief Coordinator, UPHCP, LGD, Government of the People's Republic of Bangladesh

The session will discuss the need for and status of developing the indicators, targets and goals for the SDGs for countries to use to monitor progress in achieving urban health. This includes the challenge of priority setting among multiple social determinants such as: women empowerment and education, poverty reduction and access to food and nutrition, urban planning, energy, transportation, housing and information technology, migration and access to universal health services.

The session will also describe the partnership status and way forward for achieving the urban health related indicators and targets of the SDGs. It will consider how the Dhaka Statement for Urban Health can be useful in this process.

29/09 10:00 - 12:00 PLENARY 6

PL6 ENVIRONMENTAL HEALTH AND URBAN SUSTAINABILITY

Room: Main Auditorium

Built and natural environments are important determinants of health in cities. This session will explore a variety of urban environmental challenges, including air quality, soil and water contamination, traffic congestion, noise, poor housing conditions and the effects of climate change. Strategies for sustainable urbanization must include commitments for action towards achieving healthy urban environments that prevent and protect the population from environmental hazards.
